

Southampton Archaeology Society at the Southampton Heritage Fayre.

SAS had a stand at the annual Heritage Fayre on September 15th 2018 convened as part of the national Heritage Open Day event. That included a collection of artefacts which illustrated the development of Southampton from Roman times until the 18th century. This highlighted the richness of the history but also trading, like Roman pottery from Gaul (France), floor and wall tiles from Medieval Holland and 18th century pottery from Germany.

The stand design was by Mandy Kesby and reflected the scope of the society's recent activities.

Our stand: Anna Welch grabs a much-needed cup of tea with Chris Evans in attendance. Thanks to them and Martyn Dowell and Mandy Kesby who also did duty on the day.
